

OPALS FOUND IN WAIALUA.

Dr. Hubert Wood, the Government physician for the Waiailua district, is somewhat of a mineralist and in spare moments sometimes does a little prospecting in the neighborhood of his residence in Waiailua.

Dr. Wood was always of the opinion that various gems were to be found in these islands, though the general idea is to the contrary. Having noticed indications in certain localities of the presence of opals, the doctor made it a point to investigate.

His efforts were rewarded a few days ago when he discovered several specimens of the stone for which he was in search. The majority of the specimens are of an inferior quality although there is one that is of good shape and a stone that will make an elegant showing when set. It is undoubtedly a gem of no mean value and goes to show a little of what may be expected of these islands in the mineral line.

Dr. Wood has also observed indications of Chaledony and several other stones of value. It is the doctor's intention to make further investigations, and it is to be hoped that he soon will have some other interesting and valuable find to report.
